

Mona Paulee
Sings Tonight
Artist Will Interpret
Operatic Selections

Miss Mona Paulee, the gifted young concert singer, will be featured tonight, November 9, at 8:00 P. M., when she will appear as the star of the second of a series of concerts sponsored by the "Friends of the College of William and Mary." Miss Paulee is one of the youngest stars of the Metropolitan. The concert will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Tickets of admission to the single program may be purchased.

Miss Paulee's musical career was started through a mere twist of fate. Once, while attending a picture theatre with some of her friends, an announcement was made that a contest was going to be held to find the best singer in the audience. Being dared, Miss Paulee entered the contest and won it.

From then on, her career was mapped out for her. Starting with minor roles in San Francisco, Miss Paulee entered, in 1942, Metropolitan's "Auditions of the Air," which she also won. Her debut for Metropolitan was made in the Fall of 1942, and since then she has appeared in concerts in many localities.

The Toronto Daily Star says about Miss Paulee, "A wonderfully flexible and expansive voice." The Philadelphia Bulletin is quoted as saying, "Natural beauty and strength of her voice and the warmth and the imagination of her interpretive style speak of exceptional potentialities."

Miss Paulee's program will consist of:

Dido's Lament by Purcell;
Il Est Doux, Il Est Bon, from "Herodiade" by Massenet;
La Chevelure by Debussy;
Habenera from "Carmen" by Bizet;
In the Silence of the Night by Rachmaninoff;
British Children's Prayer by Wolfe; and additional numbers by Rossini, Torelli, Brahms, Schubert, Strauss, Chopin and Debussy.

Proxy Dogpatch Is Scene
Of Daisy-Li'l Abner Frolic

By SUSIE SEAY

This year, as Sadie Hawkins day rolled around, the ever popular "girl get boy" idea went into full swing.

Early in the week, announcements were made in the dining hall about the Sadie Hawkins Dance on Saturday, November 6. From Thursday noon till Friday noon any girl could claim her man by pinning her name on him. After that time it was up to the boys.

Thursday night while the waiters were serving dinner, four boys dressed as "Sadie Hawkinses" entered. They were P. D. Reynolds, Bud Galbreath, Bolling Chappell, and Bob Burns—dressed Dogpatch style with sun bonnets, short dresses and carrying purses. Immediately they rushed through the dining hall and tagged their men—among them, Benny Raimondi and "Sweet William" Saunders. Up at the announcer's table, Bill Albert reminded students that some

New A. S. T. U. Group Arrives

Coming from high schools and colleges, chiefly in such western states as California, Utah, and Oregon, a new batch of A. S. T. U. boys appeared on the campus a few days ago. Shortly after their arrival, the boys home on the furlough granted after last quarter's work here at William and Mary returned to start the new quarter which began yesterday (Monday).

All men will complete three three-months' terms of training at some college, before being sent on to advanced engineering courses at some college such as Pennsylvania State.

Some men have been in the army before, many as long as a year, but most of these boys have just completed high school or a year or two of college.

Fill Four Upperclass, Ten Freshman Posts

Elections for upperclass student offices left vacant over the summer, and for Freshman Class officers and Representatives to the Student Assembly will be held tomorrow, Wednesday, November 10, from 1 to 6 P. M., in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Last week's elections for Senior Men's Representative and Junior Women's Representative to the Student Assembly were won by Jerry Hyman and Mary Ellen McLean, respectively.

Those offices to be filled by this week's election are: President of the Senior Class; President and Vice-President of the Junior Class; Vice-President of the Sophomore Class; and President, Vice-President, Historian, Secretary-Treasurer, and six Representatives to the Student Assembly from the Freshman Class.

Petitions for candidacy handed in to Dr. Armacost's office by noon last Wednesday, November 3, include the following names:

Flat Hat Drive Ends; WAMS To Mail Papers

Summing up a week-old campaign to raise funds to send the FLAT HAT to service men and women formerly attending the college, Phi Delta Pi collected a total of $158, to exceed greatly its goal of $100. This amount will enable the WAM Corps to mail FLAT HATs weekly for more than a year, to over 400 students in the service.

Though off to a slow start, the drive quickly gained momentum by means of posters, dining hall announcements, and dormitory solicitations. Capping a week of intensive effort, the Sadie Hawkins dance in Blow Gym Saturday was a huge success, and yielded a gross total of more than 73 dollars.

Bill Albert, chairman of the drive, and his assistants, Harvey Pope and David McNamara, wish to acknowledge the work of Dot Agurk and the WAM Corps; the assistance of Mary Ellen McLean, Gene Kellogg, and the sorority house presidents, and the cooperation of Al Appell, who supervised the dance; also that of Charles Baker, John Manos, Tom Mikula, and the many others who contributed their money and effort.

Although the actual drive for contributions is ended, many more names and addresses are needed. The following coupon is to be used either by students who wish to

Literary Contents Fill Two Magazines Yearly

Publication of the Royalist will be resumed this year, according to the decision reached by the Assembly at its first meeting on Thursday, November 4. The magazine will follow its usual literary style and will contain creative material by the students. Because William and Mary is a Liberal Arts college, it was decided that such a magazine would be an important addition to the extra activities of the college. The Royalist will have two publications this year, one each semester.

These were the instructions from the Assembly to the Publications Committee concerning the forthcoming magazine.

Mr. Melville Jones, of the English department, was elected faculty advisor to the Student Publications Committee for this year, and Mr. Wayne Gibbs is the faculty representative to the Committee from the Student Activities Committee. Sunny Manewal will serve as chairman of this committee. She is a junior representative to the Assembly and succeeds Bill Pope.

The committee will meet in the very near future to select an editor for the Royalist. This editor must be a student who will graduate by September, 1944.

The suggestion was made that the students allow the house mothers to go to the front of the cafeteria line at all meal hours, as a matter of courtesy. "Although breaking into the cafeteria line is not an Honor System offense, it is a breach of your own personal honor code," says Lebe Seay, Chairman of the Honor Council.

President Of Student Body Is Former Radio "Ham"

David B. McNamara, who was recently elected President of the Student Body, is conducting an interesting college career of varied activities. He entered William and Mary in the fall of 1941, after graduating in June of that year from Maury High School in Norfolk, Virginia. "Mac", as he is best known, tied with his sister for first place in scholastic standing in high school; but in his own gallant manner, he conceded the first honors to his sister and satisfied himself with the rank of second in his class.

When he came to college, Mac was as green a freshman as anyone else, but he soon became adjusted to campus life. During his first year, Mac maintained and operated an amateur radio station (W3IUUV), until he was forced to close it at the outbreak of the war. During his next year at college, he was elected vice-president of Sigma Pi Sigma, local physics fraternity, and was also elected president of the Euclid Club, a mathematics fraternity. His popularity mounted and, in summer school this past year, he was elected vice-chairman of the Honor Council.

Besides receiving the honor of being elected president of the Student Body this year, Mac has been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Upon his graduation in February, Mac will enter the Signal Corps.

Specialists Give Program Of Varied Musical Shows

Featuring its customary varied repertoire, the Specialist Corps of the Naval Training School for Chaplains presented its second "smoker" on Friday night, November 5. Directed by Master of Ceremonies, Specialist Don Dewhirst, the show got under way at 8 P. M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The program was composed of everything from the sublime to the ridiculous—from flute solos to a barber shop chorus. It included a little bit of all the local Navy talent.

Several of the performers were recognized as having taken part in the first show and have already become favorites in the eyes of the enthusiastic audience. Among these were Specialist 3/c Sam Anderson, the "boogie-woogie" expert who gave an original rendition of "Night and Day", and followed up with some "boogie-woogie" a la Templeton. Another old-timer, Harry Casperson, sang a solo, "Through the Years," and later in the program appeared as a special feature with one of the new WAVE "contingent", Marian Burgess, Specialist 2/c, singing "Make Believe."

Another new act was presented by Ross Rosazza, Specialist 1/c, who delighted the audience with his unaccompanied singing of some favorite Negro spirituals.

The wackiest touch to the whole program came at the grand finale, when the famous Specialist Corps Light Opera Company under the direction of Maestro Herbert Lane brought the house down with a screwball version of "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

K. D. P. Observes Education Week

National Education Week, November 8-15, will be observed in Williamsburg by Kappa Delta Pi, the local Parent-Teacher Association, and members of the American Association of University Women. These three groups together are sponsoring a mass meeting of Williamsburg citizens, residents, and students. Students majoring in education are especially invited to this meeting, which is to be held at the Matthew Whaley Auditorium Wednesday, November 10, at 8:15. Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, Superintendent of Public Instruction of Virginia, will be the guest speaker.

Mexican Trip Planned Again

Professors Pierre Macy and J. D. Carter of the Department of Modern Languages, who sponsored an eighty-day sight-seeing tour of Mexico this summer, are planning a similar trip next June. It is open to teachers, students, and persons interested in Mexico and its civilization.

The trip will be made by train to Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, by bus to Mexico City, in order that the members of the group may enjoy fully the splendid scenery along the Pan-American highway, and by train from Mexico City back to Richmond.

During their stay in Mexico City, those of the group who wish to will be able to attend the Summer School of the University of Mexico from the last week in June until Mid-August. The party will also make four sight-seeing excursions: the first through Mexico City, seeing the Cathedral, 1667, the largest in America, and taking the boat ride through the canals of the celebrated "floating gardens" at Xochimilco; the second to the famous Guadalupe Shrine; the third to Taxco, a quaint and picturesque town in Mexico—a two-day trip; and the last along the scenic road where one enjoys the magnificent sight of the grand volcanoes Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl. This is naming only a few of the many sights the excursions will cover.

The tour is expected to be very similar to the one made this summer. Those making that trip were: Sunny Trumbo, Barbara Ruhl, Sheila Stewart, June Neff, Nancy Keen, and T. J. Ingram.

Club Notes

A large number of students, including a great many A.S.T.U. boys, turned out for the first meeting of the Gibbons Club, which was held in Barrett Hall living room on October 19. Speakers were Father Walsh, spiritual director of the club and Dr. Ryan, former faculty advisor. Lt. Worner was introduced as the new faculty advisor. Officers elected were: President, Dick Neubauer; Vice-President, Private J. L. Krieger; Secretary, Margaret Carey; Treasurer, Sally Lou Smith. The next meeting is scheduled for the second week in November.

The Spanish Club will initiate all new members as a part of the program at its next meeting, Wednesday, November 10, at 8:00 P. M. in Barrett East living room. Initiates will be those who have paid, or who bring, their dues to the meeting. Barbara Ruhl, who spent the summer at the University of Mexico, will show some interesting things she brought back. Musical entertainment will be supplied by Gloria Gruber, Betty Jane Marvin, Marjorie Hill, and Mimi White; Yvonne Babin will present a Spanish dance. A Spanish song-sing and refreshments will follow.

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
"If liberal education ever had any worth, it has more in time of war. With all the world in a state of flux, it is the responsibility of the institutions of higher learning to make clear the present significance of this struggle and to educate the men and women who will shape the future at its cessation."

"The bells of education are as important as the bugles sounding the call for technical skill. Without the latter the war could not be won; without the former the victory would be worthless."

The government will take a more active part in sports than it ever has before—for it foresees an America in the future which will have shorter working hours and many more hours of leisure for its people. To maintain a healthy America, both physically as well as morally, the United States government must and will design widespread competitive athletic programs during this war period, in order to "sow the seeds," as General MacArthur sagely remarked, "which will eventually bear the fruits of victory."

Eustis Sergeant To Portray Jefferson In "The Patriots"

Two Waves Report For Navy Training

Two enlisted Waves have reported for indoctrination in the Naval Training School for Chaplains at William and Mary. They are Elizabeth Merring and Marian Mood Burgess, the first two Waves of the Specialist (Welfare) Branch to report to the school.

Waves Merring and Burgess have taken residence on the third floor of the Infirmary. Miss Wynne-Roberts, Assistant Dean of Women, has urged them to consider Barrett as their home. Every effort is being made to make them feel part of the College and to have them participate in college life. On Monday, November 8, they will attend a meeting of the W.S.C.G.A. in Phi Beta.

Recently, Commander E. B. Harp, Jr., has been detached from the Chaplains School. In his stead, Chaplain J. F. Robinson is the present executive officer.

Sunday morning broadcasts of the Chaplains' Choir, "The Navy Sings", will be continued over CBS for two additional Sundays, November 7 and 14. These programs are broadcast Sunday mornings from 8:45 to 9:00 A. M., from Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Thomas Jefferson has arrived on campus!

This would be big news anytime, anywhere—but, of course, it couldn't be true. However, Thomas Jefferson has arrived in the person of M/Sgt. Jack E. Klein, Medical Detachment, Fort Eustis, Virginia, who plays the role of the third President of the United States. The occasion is the production of the second play of the season, "The Patriots."

Casting has been almost completed. Miss Hunt has many of the characters chosen already and held the first reading-rehearsal last Thursday night when Sgt. Klein came in from Fort Eustis. Students selected thus far are John Manos, Jack Carter, Ronald King, Osburn Wynkoop, Levi Marlow, John Green, Sally Snyder, Jeanne Mencke, Anne Ray, and Jean Ferebee.

Sgt. Klein is a graduate of Oberlin College in Ohio and has done a great deal of acting, directing, singing, and radio work, both while in college and after graduation. Because Sgt. Klein is a soldier first and an actor second, rehearsals for the play will be held in the evening so as not to interfere with his military duties.

Alumnus Louis Rives Takes F.S.A. Position

Louis H. Rives, Jr., 24-year-old Norfolk attorney, and alumnus of the College of William and Mary, early last week, assumed the duties of a junior attorney in the Federal Security Agency, Washington, D. C. Entering the college in 1939, Rives graduated in 1941, but remained to receive his degree in law in 1943, and spent last summer preparing for government service.

INQUIRING REPORTER

By LIN HAGWOOD

The question that has arisen in the minds of many students since September 27 is whether or not the men in charge of teaching them are sufficiently able to get the point across. For the purpose of clarifying the situation we have been roaming around the campus and popping this question at people:

Should, or should not, the student body have more voice in the hiring and firing of professors? Betty Bornstein—I'm not so sure they should. If so, then an elected committee should do it, not the entire body; there would be too much prejudice among the students as a whole.

Pat Curran—There might be too much prejudice, but they ought to have more voice in the hiring and firing of professors.

Emily Scott—No, I'm satisfied! William Mace—No, there are always some grievances against some of the professors.

Patricia Jones—No, there is no such thing as a perfect faculty. Shirley Lanham—They're all the same to me.

Barton Cooley—They should!! Because if a professor can't get along with the majority of students, there must be something wrong with the professor. But on the other hand, the administration knows more about whether a professor is capable or not. It is evident that they should not, otherwise the practice would have begun long ago.

George Hunnarth—Definitely not! The student would do nothing but hear grievances.

Al Puth—No, speaking for myself, I feel quite unqualified to evaluate the worth of a teacher. However, I do feel that the student consensus eventually determines a teacher's stay.

Eugene Purdum—Students who come in contact with a professor every day should have the privilege of submitting complaints in the form of petitions to the President, and leave the rest to the administration.

Joyce Remsberg—You answer it.

W.-M. Men In Service Meet On Other Campuses

Y. W. To Give Food Baskets

An all-student chapel service will be held on Thanksgiving morning in the Wren Chapel at 10 A. M. The service is to be sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., as announced by the president, Marion Ross, at the last meeting on November 4. A silver offering will be taken and given to the King's Daughters, an organization in contact with needy families of the community.

Edith Burkard, worship chairman, told the group that girls would be appointed for each floor of the dorms and for the sororities, to ask for contributions of food from the women students. Baskets will then be filled by each floor of the dormitories and sorority houses for the needy families of Williamsburg. For food such as poultry, money will be used from the Y.W.C.A. funds. Wrapped in white tissue paper, these baskets will be placed on the altar at the Chapel during the service. At the conclusion they will be given to the King's Daughters for distribution.

Uniformed Boys Return For Visit

It looks as though Chapel Hill has taken over many of the W. & M. crowd, what with Lee Dorman, '45, Pi Lambda Phi; Eddie Guy, '46, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Bucky Barrett, '46, Theta Delta Chi; Jerry Bowman, '46, Phi Tau, and Bob Bookmyer, '45, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, all down there with the Sailors of the Air.

Luckily—or at least WE think he was lucky—Paul Moreland, '46, came right from Camp Lee here for the A.S.T.P. training.

All kinds of good luck to Gene Hanofee, '44, who was at Richmond in the V-12, but is now at the hospital in Quantico suffering from a serious throat infection.

Art Hungerford, '46, Kappa Alpha, is being transferred from Ft. McClellan to Greensboro in the Air Corps; and Corky Wampler, also '46 and a KA, has just been inducted in Greensboro.

Leo Brenner, '45, Phi Alpha, is sporting a good looking pair of gold bars now; and all with one gold stripe around their sleeves—Cecil Griffin, '43, Theta Delta Chi, formerly with PT-boats, is now at Yorktown; Jimmie Ward, '43, SAE, is now with the Amphibious Troops; and Dick Alfriend, also '43 and SAE, is way out in California awaiting further orders. All of these fellows have been graduated from the Midshipman's School, Columbia University, in New York.

Frank Eger, '44, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Eddie Milula, '46, Sigma Rho, are both at Pennsylvania U., where Ed is playing football for the Navy. Ted Layton, '46, has started his flying in Carbondale, Illinois, and Brack McCaskey, '46, SAE, is a pfc and tail gunner in South Carolina.

Out in the Far West two class-of-'46-ers are whooping it up. Sammy Barrett, SAE, is at Texas A. & M. in the A.S.T.P., and "Doc" Post is in California in the Naval Air Corps.

Big, hefty, muscley old Arnold O'Brier, '46, is now knocking 'em dead as an M. P. in Ohio. Bill Harrison, '44, Pi Kappa Alpha, is in the Marines at Duke, and Johnny Fox, '46, is there in the Naval Medical Corps. Dick Carter, '46, is in his advanced training at the Bomber School in Midland, Texas, and Don Matteucio, '46, is an a/c at Hamilton College, Clinton, New York.

Erdman Nichols, '46, Kappa Sigma, is at Great Lakes, and Joe Misland, '46, Phi Kappa Tau, is at Columbia in the Naval Air Corps.

We find that George Blandford, '43, SAE, is in the Amphibious Troops, having just graduated as an Ensign from Midshipman's School at Northwestern, in Chicago; and Jimmy Macon, '43, SAE, is in OCS at Quantico; Jack Har-speakers.

Concert Violinist To Visit Campus

Mr. Klaus Liepmann, member of the faculty of Yale School of Music, concert violinist, and conductor of the Yale Student Orchestra, will arrive on campus Saturday, November 20, to be here until Wednesday, November 24.

Plans have been made for his entertainment. He will visit classes, meet members of the faculty and student body, and be entertained by the Music Club. On Tuesday, November 23, at 8 P. M., Mr. Liepmann and Mr. Allan B. Sly will give a concert in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Before Mr. Liepmann's arrival Mr. Sly will go to Duke University to meet him. A concert will be given there by these two men.

Student Assembly Minutes From Meeting Of Nov. 4

The Student Assembly of the College of William and Mary held a regular meeting November 4 at 8:15 o'clock in Washington 100.

Prickett Carter, acting President of the Student Body, installed David McNamara, newly elected President of the Student Body.

The minutes were read and approved.

The new assembly members were then inducted by President McNamara.

Dr. Melville Jones was elected faculty representative of the Publications Committee.

Sunny Manewal was elected chairman of the Publications Committee.

Nellie Greaves moved that the students be told that the house-mothers are supposed to go to the head of the cafeteria line. The motion was seconded and passed.

David McNamara read a letter from President Pomfret which concerned men's fraternities on campus after the war. A letter from Governor Darden to President Pomfret was also read, in which Governor Darden thanked the members of the Fraternity-Sorority Committee for their co-operation.

Frances Pendleton moved that the petition asking for the publication of a literary magazine be put in the form of a motion. The motion was seconded and passed. Frances then moved an amendment to the motion stating that the assembly take definite action in instructing the Publications Committee to appoint an editor of the literary magazine. The motion was seconded and passed.

The Assembly discussed the type of literary magazine that they thought the students wanted.

Marjorie Lentz moved that the Assembly instruct the Publications Committee to publish a magazine confined to purely creative material contributed by the students. This motion was seconded and passed.

Lebe Seay moved that the Assembly instruct the Publications Committee to publish one magazine each semester. This motion was also seconded and passed.

Harvey Pope read the petition which asked that the local social fraternity, Phi Delta Pi, be recognized by the Assembly. The Assembly voted to recognize the fraternity.

Sunny Manewal moved that a local Red Cross chapter be established on campus. The motion was seconded and passed.

Dick Anderson moved that the Assembly recognize the local social fraternity, Kappa Tau. The Assembly voted to recognize this fraternity.

The meeting adjourned at 9:45 P. M.

Respectfully submitted,
Jeanette Freer,
Secretary.

The Trading Post

By BOBBIE STEELY

Now when the time of fruit and grain is come, when the apples hang above the orchard wall, and from a tangle by the roadside stream a scent of wild grapes fills the air we also gather from our olfactory tubes that the faint odor of corn is seeping from Ye Olde Trading Post.

Activities Committee Reapportions Funds

This represents a change from previous years in that the Royalist, the Men's Debate Council, and the Women's Debate Council are not receiving any apportionment from the current budget. These activities, however, are provided for, since the money was appropriated for the Royalist and Debate Councils last year, but was not spent due to the difficulties in transportation and scheduling.

The Royalist fund at present has a surplus of $2,855, which includes $1,584 appropriated from the Activities Fund of last year, which was not used. The Men's Debate Council has a surplus of $578.48, and the Women's Debate Council has a surplus of $591.24.

This change in the apportionment of the Fund was made as a temporary measure until such time as the enrollment of the student body is again normal. It was necessitated by the loss of Activities Fees due to the decrease in the number of students.

At the meeting on November 4, the budgets for the year 1943-44 were approved for the FLAT HAT, the Colonial Echo, the Women's Debate Council, the Student Body, and the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association.

The Men's Debate Council has not been organized, but funds may be appropriated for this organization if it has an approved program and presents a budget to the Student Activities Committee.

Third U.S.O. Show Given

Naval officers and men on campus were entertained for a third time by the U.S.O. when troupe 18 presented a variety show last Tuesday, November 2, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Under the direction of Zeke Clements, former star of the "Grand Old Opry" radio program, and whose voice was used for the dwarf "Bashful" in Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", the show consisted of dances by Gail MacDonald and Phyllis Day, accordion music by "Antoinette", and a novelty act by Chuck Lee, who was for many years Sophie Tucker's personal master of ceremonies.

Mr. Clements, who has played in many movies, was appearing for the first time in two months, having just recovered from an injury sustained while performing for the Army U.S.O.

Nineteen year old Miss Day and eighteen year old Miss MacDonald are at present the youngest regular U.S.O. performers in the country. Miss Day holds a journalism scholarship to Syracuse University, and has studied music under Lillian Pellitier and Conrad Steller. She taught herself dancing. Miss MacDonald was a protégée of the famous star Helen Morgan until the singer's death a few years ago. She studied under Ernest Carlos and Royce Dodge in New York.

"Antoinette" received her Bachelor's degree in Music from Catholic University in Washington, and is planning to study for her Master's in Music and Philosophy after the troupe returns from its overseas tour.

The show was well received by an audience of officers and enlisted men. Another similar entertainment will take place in two weeks in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Latest word from Ensign Charles Malcom "Sully" Sullivan: After being out "fishing" for quite a while, "Sully" is soon going to Miami to Sub-Chaser School. Private Bob Smid arrived at Camp Pickett not long ago and seems to be spending most of his free week-ends here. Ensign Joe "Bottles" Bottalico is now at Cherry Point, North Carolina, and we hear he is soon to be back on campus for a visit.

Last seen at the Officers' Club at Camp Barkeley, Texas, by two William and Mary co-eds, was Lt. Bob Burns of the 11th Armored Division. Other William and Mary men in Texas include Aviation Cadet Ray O'Connor, in San Antonio, and Jack Camp, who received his wings last Saturday at Ellington Field, Houston.

Many of our boys seem to be unusually lucky in being stationed near the college. Two of the fortunates are Cecil Griffin and Buck Bradford who are both at Yorktown. Other familiar faces seen on campus lately are Ensigns Scotty Cunningham, and Al Stuart; V-12's Jack Merriman, Wayne Gibbs, Chuck Bayard and Wally Heatwole; and Eddie Anderson and Jack Merrick of the Marines.

Indian Lightweights Lose to A's, 24-13

On the Inside with Bill Albert

Last week we were wondering whether or not we would be able to have a basketball team this winter, and we must admit it didn't look as though it would be possible. However, Mr. Voyles announced the glad tidings that William and Mary would be represented by not only one but two teams; one being an Army five coached by Voyles himself or Rube McCray. Not only this, but a schedule is being drawn up that favorably compares in schools played with those of pre-war years. Games on a home-and-home basis are sought with the University of Richmond, V.M.I., V.P.I., Washington and Lee, Camp Peary, Fort Story, and teams that have not been named as yet.

There is one major drawback, however, that might prevent an attractive home schedule from being arranged. The Army Unit vitally needs the space in our new gym for barracks, whereas the new gym also provides a fine floor for basketball. The old gym is poor both for practice and actual games because it is far too small. Unless the Army makes the new gym available for basketball by quartering men in the old building, many good cage teams will undoubtedly be left off the schedule.

If it could be arranged, the ideal thing to do would be to combine the Army and civilian teams. Boasting no end of experienced talent the Army men would serve as a nucleus for a fine squad. Chances are that there will never be another Glenn Knox on the court, but an alert, eager, finely drilled squad would result from this arrangement.

The spectators at the Apprentice game Saturday witnessed a fine breakaway runner in Johnny Robinson, speedy Maroon scaback. Robinson had a hand in all four Apprentice touchdowns, as he passed for two and counted the other two himself on sprints of 26 and 89 yards, respectively. As great and powerful as Voyles' four teams at William and Mary were, each lacked an elusive breakaway runner. Jimmy Howard, Harlie Masters and Jim Hickey came closest to filling the bill, but there never was a back that could be counted on to produce in every game. Robinson's 89-yard

Hockey Coach Assists Coeds On Thursday

"Run, run, stretch out those limbs," the voice of Miss Constance Applebee could be heard, as she coached the hockey squad last year. William and Mary will again be privileged to have this veteran player on the campus as a visiting instructor, for Miss Applebee is scheduled to arrive in Williamsburg this Thursday.

Miss Applebee's home is in Bunley in Hampshire, England, but she has lived in this country since 1901, at which time she introduced field hockey to the United States. She has coached various teams in the East, among which is Bryn Mawr where she instructed hockey from 1905 to 1936.

"Be quick and use your imagination," is Miss Applebee's advice to all players. Although the Southern girls play good hockey, she believes that Northern colleges have the advantage for most of their women students have played hockey in elementary and secondary schools. Miss Applebee is especially fond of instructing right halfback for that is the position which she herself usually plays.

While at William and Mary last year, Miss Applebee did not limit her activity to the hockey field and took an active interest in the affairs of the Canterbury Club of the Bruton Parish Church and also helped to put together knitted squares for afghans which the women students made.

Frosh Engage A's Again Here Sat.

Saturday afternoon at 3 P. M., William and Mary's Freshman team will play a return engagement with the Newport News Apprentice School here at Cary Field. The Paposes dropped the first contest, after a tough battle, to the tune of 19-7, and are determined to turn the tables this time.

This Apprentice School team is no pushover. Working between a single wing and the Notre Dame box formation, they've gone on to down Fort Monroe, 14-0, the Norfolk Marines, 25-6; Emory and Henry, 13-0; Virginia, 7-6; and our own Freshmen, 19-7. Through the season they've sustained only one defeat, and that at the hands of a tough North Carolina eleven. Exhibiting plenty of speed, power, and deception, the A's are an extremely interesting and colorful team, and have a surprisingly large following in Newport News. They have a really fine backfield in Hanbury, Dulaney, Wetzler, and Johnson, and a very strong line. They'll be tough to beat, but with the breaks, and a clear day, the Indians may be able to do the trick. It is going to be a rough afternoon for the team.

WARREN GALBREATH

Warren Galbreath Leads Freshmen

As the William and Mary Frosh football team continues on its way through a promising season, it is supplemented by the great playing of Warren Galbreath. This tall, well-rounded boy is now captain of the team, and is very ably holding down an end position.

Warren attended Bloomfield High School, where he played spectacularly for two years. In his senior year his team won game after game and came out on top to clinch the New Jersey State Championship. It was there that he received the first thrill of the great American sport, and also there that he turned his attention to playing end.

When Galbreath entered William and Mary, the coach found him to be already in shape for football after working in the freight yard all summer. His performances on the gridiron feature a hard, fast charge which carries him into the opponent's backfield. These smashes often catch the opposing men off balance and enable him to hit the backs for a loss. In the four games this season he has caught over a dozen passes, sometimes making an impossible stab for the pigskin and having it stick in his hands as if glued there.

Warren also plays baseball, basketball, and volley ball; and in high school he was a well-known member of Hi-Y, and many other clubs. He has already been nominated for president of the freshman class.

When the score is summarized, Warren will always be found on top because of his splendid spirit and will to win. In all things he shows great promise as a person which colleges might well be proud.

Robinson Runs Wild to Score; Invaders Come From Behind

There was too much Johnny Robinson for William and Mary's freshmen warriors to handle Saturday afternoon, and the twenty-two-year-old Apprentice scaback performed all over Cary Field to spell out a 24-13 defeat for the Indians.

Coach R. N. McCray's warriors played a hard game, and managed to score first, but the loss of Benny Raimondi in the second period hurt the Tribe, and the A's grabbed an 18-6 lead at half time. Raimondi did come back late in the last half to spark a desperate Indian rally that came mighty close to changing the outcome of the game.

Ping Pong Concluded

The variety that adds spice to everything also contributes its full flavor to intramurals. The scene for the current women's sport activities changed from the athletic field to the gymnasium this week. Ping-pong has the spotlight. These ping-pong tournaments had no less enthused participants than the tennis matches. The co-eds swung their paddles with as much relish and ease as they did their rackets. The matches have been close and the margin of victories small.

The sorority girls who played this week were: Gamma Phi Beta—Edith McChesney, Mary Ellen McLean, Eleanor Clayton, Ginny Baureithel, and Gussie Williams; Phi Mu—Ann Hitch, Eleanor Haupt, Jean Wilder, Shirley Latham, Gunesh Gurang, and Alice Stirewalt; Kappa Alpha Theta—Marge Retzke, Marilyn Wood, Sugie Hartnell, and M'Lou Barrett; Pi Beta Phi—Louise Thomas, Jo Parker, Edie Marsh, Jean Horger, Donnie Lepper, Betty Lawson, Pat Wheelen, and Gene Kellogg; Kappa Kappa Gamma—Mary Lou Manning, Katie Rutherford, Helen Jordon, Marian Ross, Jane Welton, Grace Duvoisin, Phyl Laskey, Fran Butler, Kay Leavy, Louise Brown, and Betty Butt; Alpha Chi Omega—Sue Lamb, Pam Pauly, Ann Vineyard, Dossie Blake, Eleanor Rheuby, Sharon McCloskey, and Jeanne Mencke; Chi Omega—Nancy Throckmorton.

Wrestling-Boxing Scheduled Next

Intra-mural events for civilian and army students are to include boxing and wrestling as part of the curriculum.

Boxing is to be held between February 14 and 22 and wrestling from December 6 to 20. However, these dates are subject to revision to make them fit in with the Physical Education program. It is the wish of the Physical Education department that the boxing and wrestling events come at the same time that instructions of these arts are being given to the Physical Education classes.

There will be bouts in boxing and wrestling for the 121, 128, 136, 145, 155, 165, 175 and heavyweights. Each event will contain three two-minute rounds. Medals are to be given to the winners of the finals.

After receiving the opening kick-off, William and Mary was forced to punt, Bo Chappell kicking to the A 15. An Apprentice drive, featured by a 35-yard dash by LaClair, and a 10-yard jaunt by Robinson, failed on the Indian 14 when Art Foussekis recovered a fumble. Here the Tri-Color started their goalward drive. Raimondi picked up 39 yards in four tries to the Indian 49. Plunges by Martin, Bo Chappell and Raimondi placed the ball on the Apprentice 36. From the 36, Raimondi passed into the waiting arms of "Baldy" Campbell who stepped into the end zone. The kick failed. Late in the quarter, the Builders engineered their first score. Robinson and company plunged to the William and Mary 45, and then two passes—one to the 22 and the next into the end zone—gave Apprentice a 6-6 tie.

The second period was strictly an Apprentice show. Robinson and Rowe moved to the William and Mary 21, and then Robinson dashed 21 yards for the score. The conversion failed. Late in the period, an Indian punt rolled dead on the A 12 yard line, and, on the second play from scrimmage, Robinson cut over right tackle, sped down the sidelines, reversed his field at the 40, and outdistanced the Tribe secondary to score standing up. Apprentice 18, William and Mary 6; half time.

The third quarter saw the A's recover an Indian fumble at the Apprentice 31, and drive for their

"Where are the Greek letter girls today?" enthusiastic dormitory hockey players asked last week. For to date, only girls from the dorms have showed up in full teams for hockey practice. Remember the rule is that every member of a team must have three practices in order to play in intramurals. The athletic field isn't that far away from sorority court! It might be a good idea if the Blue, Red and Green teams get a hunch—and appear on the field to limber up. The dormitory players already have some advantage.

Each sorority should send five players out for every practice so that there will be two substitutes on each team. Because rushing, which starts the 16th, will interrupt the schedule, there will be no practices next week—instead there are two practices scheduled for each team this week.

The tennis matches are gradually being completed. Kappa Alpha Theta was leading last week, but now Chi Omega has stolen top rank with 13 games won. The Thetas tying with Kappa Kappa Gamma, have 12 games to their credit. Alpha Chi Omega is keeping pace by staying close to the top with 11 games won. All matches must be played by Saturday—any games left over will be forfeited, providing the weather does not interfere.

Any balls today? The Physical Education department now has an ample supply of canned balls, also tennis presses and racquets. See Nancy Hale in Jefferson if you are interested. She is also in charge of restringing racquets.

Miss Arlene Jackman will conduct try-outs for the Modern Dance Club on Friday, November 12, Saturday 13, and Monday 15, in Jefferson Gym. Girls are urged to attend all meetings.

sprint was a thing of beauty. He started around end, drifting behind his interference easily, and as the halfback and end came in for the tackle he suddenly changed pace, pouring on speed. Finally he cut back to pick up blockers, who took care of the Indian safety man, and just breezed down the field to score. In fact he jogged the last ten yards, with no one even close to him.

fourth touchdown. Robinson spearheaded a drive to the Indian 20, and then tossed to McFall in the end zone.

Three touchdowns behind, the Tribe battled back. With Raimondi at the helm, the Indians drove to their second score. A Raimondi-to-Galbreath forward, followed by a lateral to Martin, placed the ball on the A 35. The Indians smashed to the 19 and, on the fourth down, Raimondi passed to Galbreath in the end zone. All during the last period, the Indians strove mightily to get back in the game. With Wright, White, Galbreath, Foussekis, and Mikula doing yeoman work, the Braves hurled back the Apprentice attack while Raimondi continued the fireworks. Three times the Tribe drove to the Builders' 25, and on one drive Benny completed three straight passes. But each time the drives stalled, and the Indians were still passing desperately as the game ended.

William and Mary led in first downs, 12-10. The line-ups follow:

side is not only a bond ballyhoover but is also a number which shows off the band in fine style. Frankie isn't vocalizing on this but Skip Nelson, recently with Glenn Miller, and Chico Marx does a fair job with the lyrics. Maybe I'm too used to Sinatra or something. The flip-over gives us the love-stealing ballad with Jo Stafford delivering a vocal equalling her out-of-this-world job on "Embraceable You". Jo really puts her heart into the song and the effect is terrific. The outstanding feature to the side is the trumpet solo as the intro. The work is that of Chuck Peterson, now with Woody Herman, and is just one more example of the number of men who far surpass Harry James in horn-blowing. I'll tell you about Harry and his superiors next week, but that brings us up to the last groove for now, and our quiz.

But turning to records in particular, we still find that the record companies are lax in turning out new recordings. We can hope for results in the very near future however. But for now we'll have to be satisfied with what has been turned out recently. Victor has lead the parade all summer in turning out the best oldies, so two of their discs deserve discussion. One, a release of Benny Goodman's made in 1940. This arrangement of "Sometimes I'm Happy", also on the S.S. juke, clearly shows the high calibre standards B. G. displayed with his old band. The arranging itself is as near to perfection as possible. Two fine solo breaks by Ziggy Elman on trumpet and Georgie Auld on tenor sax are outstanding features of the disc, but its best touch is the sax section work about three-quarters of the way through. Benny seems to have four altos and one tenor playing here and the boys go through some feats of phrasing and technique seldom heard. Yes, Goodman really was the King, four years ago.

Victor's other job turned out is one of Tommy Dorsey's best. T.D. has really turned out a masterpiece in "You Took My Love" and "Dig Down Deep". The "DDD"

Me and My Bunx

MONDAY — The Happy Bunk, well, she is happy. Precisely why and on just what standard, I'm not quite sure, but it's impressive in my respectful presence to hear her words of stupefying and complex wisdom. There is one chair in which people occasionally are pressed to sit—there being no available bed space left. This chair—portrayed as such and sold for such—is a cross between a hat rack and a bookcase. It is never free. Today the Other Bunk quite annoyed to see her particular friends standing while said chair was free of human, but not all, debris, told the Happy Bunk with an almost insidious leer, to remove her stuffed toys from its depths. The Happy Bunk disregarded the leer, smiled and said, "Oh THERE they are, I haven't seen my animals in a LONG time." Needless to say, they are still THERE.

TUESDAY — The Other Bunk has a habit, and it's called psychology and soup. She has been titillating these two ever since the age of Blue Plate dinners started. It isn't that I don't accept the word of Dr. R—, or have the least bit of disrespect for the liquid dinner. No, it's just the combination. The other night I found the Other Bunk performing an experiment that staggered me completely. Down the bathtub drain was going a can of soup, swirl-by-swirl, eddy by eddy. Yes, it was an experiment. How goes it, clockwise, counterclockwise, or otherwise?

WEDNESDAY — Sinister chaps, these gods of the theater. Is it the masque of comedy or drama?

New Officers Are Installed

Jane Eversman, freshman representative to the Executive Council, and Susie Seay, freshman representative to the Judicial Council, were installed in their new offices at the regular meeting of the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association on Monday night, November 8. Edith Harwood, treasurer of the Association, presented the budget.

A study hall for women students has been opened by the Association in Marshall Wythe 309. The room is open every night in the week, except Saturday, from 7 to 10 P. M.

The first in a series of faculty-student get-togethers will be held in Barrett living room this Friday night. Thirty-five guests have been invited. Mr. Clark of the English department will give a book review.

It all fascinates the Happy Bunk without end. In sixth grade she was a queen wearing a hand-made, French-smocked, white satin, gold-embroidered dress. She never got over it. With due respect and admiration, I must admit the Bunk is rather "of the theater". Today she left for an audition for the new play. When asked if she thought she'd get a part, she merely closed the door with a cool presence and a cryptic smile.

THURSDAY — It's never wise to miss a class. I speak as a voice of strongly advised and not so highly successful academic experience. While trying to copy the Other Bunk's forceful but incoherent notes today, I aged considerably, striving for a sufficient synonym. There was a complete high pressure; this spotted-for-the-test section on the FANNBAUGED Irish. It was all too, too frustrating.

FRIDAY — By mutual agreement we have decided to keep our hair combed and our nails clean, for we clearly realize the luxury of dinner dates in these irregular and unjustified days and times.

SATURDAY — WILL THIS BE ALL?

WAMS Sell Apples, Knit, Collect Scrap, Work At U.S.O.

Something new has been added—Apples (three for ten cents) are being sold in the Wigwam every day from 11 until 2 o'clock. It's the WAMS again, but this time all proceeds will be donated to the Red Cross. A booth was placed in the Soda Shop Saturday afternoon and within a half hour six dollars was collected.

Sec'y Outlines W.S.S.F. Work

The World Student Service Fund will be represented at William and Mary by Miss Patricia Sleezer, traveling secretary of the organization, who will discuss the activities of this group on November 17, at the chapel service.

Certain organizations on the campus have worked with the W. S. S. F. in the past. It operates primarily in the colleges and universities of the United States in order to raise money for student war relief. Aid is given to students and faculty members all over the world who are victims of the war. Those who are prisoners, refugees, interned, or dispossessed are all reached, if possible, by the W. S. S. F. From Miss Sleezer's talk, students will learn how they can help, and they will have an opportunity to meet Miss Sleezer personally after the chapel service.

Miss Sleezer is known to have a very pleasing personality, which is one of the primary reasons for her ability as a speaker. Better known as "Pat," she is a graduate of Iowa State College in the class of '41, where she majored in public speaking.

As regional chairman of the Student Christian movement, Pat had much experience in inter-collegiate conferences and had opportunities to understand the attitude of American students. Two summers of travel in Mexico and Cuba as a worker in peace education and as recreational director for the American Friends Service Committee have broadened her understanding of students of other countries. She took a year of graduate study at Yale Divinity School and served as Y.W.C.A. secretary at West Virginia University, 1942-43.

Scrap Collection

The Salvage Committee of the War Council, headed by Nellie Greaves, has already begun its big drive for collecting scrap. Posters are being put up in all the dormitory and sorority houses indicating exactly what will be collected. The WAMS on this committee have placed large boxes in each house for the disposal of tin cans. Laundry paper, old and broken records and stockings are also being collected. A jar for junk jewelry is needed for bartering in the South Sea Islands.

Knitted Squares

The latest WAM fashion on campus—yarn and knitting needles, which can be seen any time, any place, with all WAMS. Yes, it's afghan blankets this time. Here's a chance for all War Activity Members to collect some extra hours. Each square, which must be eight by eight inches, is equal to one hour of war work. These squares may be of any color yarn and of any design. Knit them on No. 5 or 6 needles. Unfortunately the Red Cross does not supply the wool but here is your chance to use those extra scraps that have been cluttering up your rooms. Forty-eight squares are needed to make one afghan. Our goal is 480 squares or ten blankets by December 1st.

U.S.O. WAM Work

Déan Landrum and Miss Wynne-Roberts have approved permissions for twenty-three girls to work at the Williamsburg U.S.O. They are divided into five committees: library, cataloging, books and magazines; art, making posters and decorating; secretarial, keeping records; recreation, planning community sings and entertainment; and welfare, working at the snack bar and guiding tours on campus. More girls are needed so hand in your permissions as soon as possible.

Cincinnati Award Offered To Women

For the first time in the history of the College, the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Virginia award will be offered to women students as well as men, instead of only to men as was done previously. This change was accomplished through the efforts of Dr. Morton, head of the history department.

The award is a medal of bronze and a cash prize of one hundred dollars to any student, majoring or minoring in history, who submits the best essay on any subject concerning constitutional history or Virginia colonial history and is approved by the head of the department.

Essays are to be submitted during the first week in May and must be typewritten and in duplicate. Those who are graduating in February may make arrangements early by contacting Dr. Morton in his office next to the Registrar's Office.

The Many Or The Few?

More Equal Distribution Of Campus Leadership Through Point System

Rumor has it that there is a student on this campus who is participating in seventeen activities and is also a member of the Dean's List! Something is wrong with this picture. Either the student is contributing nothing constructive toward these organizations of which he is a member, his instructors are lenient graders, or the student is a genius. For it doesn't seem humanly possible that anyone short of Superman could accomplish this much, and do it well.

Of course, we all recognize the rumored information to be slightly exaggerated, but it does present a time-old problem to us. It has always been evident that the leadership in the major activities on campus is usually concentrated in one, small group of students, each of whom shoulders the responsibility for several organizations, as well as takes an active part in numerous clubs and honorary societies.

Two explanations could be made for this faulty distribution of authority and responsibility: (1) only this one small group is capable of and is interested in doing the work connected with the responsibility, or (2) it is impossible for any but the select few to get themselves named to the positions of leadership.

The first explanation seems very improbable. But what about the second? If it is true, what is to be done to remedy the situation?

Many colleges make use of the Point System. That is, each major office or position of importance on campus, has a certain number of points value to it. The position of highest importance has a value of ten points. No student can exceed this point value. Therefore, if a student holds this office, he can hold no other. Other offices have different values; so that a student might hold two lesser positions of fairly equal value having five points attached to each. In this way a check is made on the amount of extra-curricular work that a student can do, insures more time and effort on the part of the student for each activity, and opens the activity field to a greater number of students.

The advantage to this system would be a more equal distribution of student leadership over the campus activities and a greater chance for hitherto unheardfrom aspirants to try out their abilities. Above all, everyone should have more time to devote to academic pursuits.

Whether or not this system would find favor on the William and Mary campus is doubtful; but the fact remains that some remedy IS needed. Activities for students should be limited, whether it is done according to value or to number. The time has come for a check-up, a shake-down, a recount—something should be done!

Students Take Strides By Effecting Changes

By JERRY HYMAN

Student government this week demonstrated its true meaning. By united action of the students several changes were effected which show clearly that the students do have the interest and, even more important, the ability to ensure that William and Mary will always be a school of equal opportunity to all. It is such things as these that give us hope for the continued progress of student government.

The controversy over the Royalist has been settled, much to the approval of a large part of the student body. At the Assembly meeting which considered the matter, a resolution instructing the Publications Committee to elect an editor and make plans for the publishing of two issues this year was adopted by a large majority, with only a few dissenting votes.

A few students are concerned about the type of magazine which will be published. They fear that it will be a heavy dull magazine, with material only from the so-called intellectuals. Actually their fear is in vain. The Assembly used the words, "creative literary material" in defining the contents of the Royalist. Surely this gives latitude enough to the editors and will allow inclusion of all types of material. There is no reason why humorous material, if well written, should not be included, whether it be short stories, verse, or essays. So let those who fear the worse be reassured. If good material of this type is submitted, it will have a place. The Assembly sought only to prevent the publication of a stale joke book with exchanges culled from humor magazines of other colleges. Very few people would argue that this would be a desirable magazine for a liberal arts college.

Other acts of great significance have taken place on the campus over the week-end. The dissatisfaction of the dining hall and cafeteria waiters over the price of their food has been settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. There had been talk and rumors of a proposed strike of the waiters to secure what they considered fair terms; but this danger, if it ever existed, has been averted by prompt action on the part of the managers of the dining hall.

Even more important, however, to the general student body is the reduction in the price of meals. It had been almost impossible to secure three meals a day at the cafeteria for less than a dollar and a half. With the introduction of "blue plate specials," any student may eat substantial meals in the cafeteria for a dollar and fifteen cents a day. By this act the students have been placed on an approximate parity with the chaplains and the ASTU as far as cost of meals. Over a period of time this will amount to a considerable saving to the students of the College. Heartiest congratulations are due to the instigators of this new system. They have showed themselves to be sensitive to public opinion in the highest degree. If this change had not been effected, there would have been several columns, including this one, in the current issue of the FLAT HAT proposing such a reduction in prices of meals. But now this matter is settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

All in all, tremendous strides have been made by the students this week. They have made their voice effective, first in securing the publication of a Royalist this year, second, in adjusting the dispute of the waiters, and third, in securing an adjustment of the cafeteria prices so that students now are not charged excessively. If, by united action of the students, such things as these can be achieved, there is much hope for student government.

the suspension or retention of the freshman due rules.

Would that the whole student body would get behind these freshman due rules till then, and carry out their spirit in the true William and Mary style. Ribbons do not take the place of your cap, freshmen women. If you simply wear ribbons, you sink into the obscurity of the freshman mass; if you wear no freshman identification, you become more obscure than a real upperclassman, (and in some cases that's pretty obscure); but, if you plug on in that insignificant green, gold, and silver extremity, it will make a place for you in your class that will carry you right through to your senior year. As for you men, with your scarcity in number, it would seem that you would be only too glad to wear your caps, in recognition of the fact that you outnumber the male enrollment in any other class.

The issue may seem small, but it's something to think about. Attitude in just such a minor circumstance can become a major basis of judgment.

Where Are Freshman Duc Caps? Neglect Inconsistent With Spirit

Where has all the green, gold, and silver tradition gone in the past few weeks? We have noticed an amazing lack of freshmen duc caps. Have you?

Freshmen in the past have been insubordinate, and have been called "gross" by the Tribunal, but the duc cap has never made its disappearance as quickly as it has this year. This is surprising, as the spirit of the class of '47 has been exceptionally strong. They have been cooperative in everything the student body has asked of them. They have taken initiative in some instances and put forth individual effort. They have been the main support of many of the events on the college program that upperclassmen have neglected. But in baring their heads of their duc caps, they have suppressed the individuality of the freshman class.

Necessity has modified some of the freshmen rules to the point where they are more lenient than they have ever been before. Yet the wearing of the duc cap seems to have become a drudgery already.

Do the frosh realize that the duc cap is not so much a penalty as a distinctive feature of the freshman tradition on this campus? Do they realize that through these caps they are identified on campus? Your name printed on your cap is your introduction to the rest of the student body. For many of the upperclassmen and faculty members it is the only formal means of introduction. It is their means of knowing you and connecting that name with your achievements on campus, as well as with the wearer of the cap.

One of the inconveniences of the present crisis that William and Mary is bearing this year is the loss of the usual spirited Thanksgiving football game with our rival, the University of Richmond. However, Coach Voyles has gone ahead with plans to have a football game of equal spirit right on our own campus at Thanksgiving time. On this game is to depend
